

2.5 Recursive copy and delete pages

Recursive copy and delete pages means that you can copy/delete a parent page and also its subpages in one go, not having to do it page by page. To activate these features, please go to the User settings below the tab "Edit & Advanced functions" to enable.

These functions are perfect to use if you are creating a new section on the website, that should have the same structure/page layout as an already existing one, or when cleaning out an old section in the page tree.
